

The SHARE Campaign and the Executive Branch Ethics Act

In 2003, the Attorney General was asked several questions concerning the Executive Ethics Act and its possible impact on the State's involvement in the SHARE campaign. The Attorney General's Office issued a written opinion concluding that:

- State employees who:
  - ✓ are board members of the United Way or its member agencies;
  - or*
  - ✓ who have immediate family members<sup>1</sup> who serve on the board of the United Way or its member agencies

May not be assigned to be SHARE volunteer coordinators or key workers and may not solicit contributions to the SHARE campaign.

- State employees who:
  - ✓ are board members of charitable organizations not affiliated with the United Way or its member agencies;
  - or*
  - ✓ who have immediate family members who serve on charitable organization boards not affiliated with the United Way or its member agencies

May serve as volunteer coordinators or key workers, but

- ✓ may not ask their fellow employees to designate their SHARE campaign contributions to those charities.
- All other state employees may volunteer to work on SHARE campaign activities without violating the Ethics Act.
